CIRCUIT COURT TO CONVENE TUESDAY

NEWS DISPATCHES FROM EVERYWHERE

The Circuit court for the county of Crawford will convene next Tuesday, July 14th at 1:00 o'clock p. m. The cases on the calendar for the term are as follow:

Criminal Cases

The People vs. Conrad Sorenson, violation of the prohibition law.

The People vs. Frank Pettis, enticing away a female under the age of 16 years.

The People vs. Jacob Riley, violation of the prohibition law.

Jury Civil Cases

Hattie B. Mosier vs. Stella Ar- chambéau, trespass on the case. This case was tried in the January term of court at which time the jury disagreed and was postponed. It arose out of an auto accident occurring last fall on the corner of Peninsular Ave. and Ogemaw St., when it was reported that the defendant's auto collided with the car owned by the plaintiff and driven by her son.

The first trial lasted nearly two days and was hard fought. No jury is drawn for the coming term so it is probable that the case will again be postponed.

Non-Jury Civil Cases

Charles H. Heinzl and Margaret Heinzl vs. Matchfield Construction Co., trespass on the case.

Nemesius Nielsen vs. The American Insurance Co. of Newark, N. J., as- sumpt.

In Chancery

Alyn Kidston vs. Lelia Kidston, di- vorce.

For Naturalization

The following have filed petitions for naturalization:

Nicklaus Vesanen, Sam Johnson, Geo. Repac and Simon Peter Srivats.

LONGEVITY EXPLAINED

Earthquake Strikes Santa Barbara Wrecking Buildings But Death Toll Small

Santa Barbara, Cal.—The earth- quake which shook the southern portion of the state early on the morning of June 21 seemed to center in this city. In spite of the fact that nearly all buildings were damaged, the loss of life was small. It is believed that not more than 20 persons were killed.

Water mains and reservoirs were broken and the city was partly flooded. Two fires broke out but they were controlled with little damage.

Accompanying the quake were tremendous waves which rushed in from the bay and flooded the low- lands.

Martial law went into effect at once. Soldiers and sailors with bayonets and police from Santa Barbara, Ventura and Los Angeles with revolvers with deputy sheriffs lent by all surrounding counties, kept everybody out of the quake stricken area.

No exact estimate of the loss has been announced, but it has been de- scribed as between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000.

Plans for the reconstruction of the city on a better and more substantial scale are already under way as wrecking crews clear away the debris. Financial assistance in the way of a $20,000,000 loan has been sought by the Santa Barbara banks.

GRAYLING LOSES OLDEST RESIDENT

MRS. MARTHA FISCHER, AGE 95, DIES JULY 4TH

Mrs. Martha Fischer, one of the early settlers of Crawford county and Grayling's oldest resident, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Sorenson at Houghton Lake, on the afternoon of Independence day at the ripe old age of 95.

Mrs. Fischer had been quite feeble for the past few years, but not so much so that she could read the daily papers and without spectacles.

Saturday afternoon she passed quietly away after a most active and useful life, filled with usefulness toward her family and others.

The remains were sent to Grayling from Houghton Lake and taken to the home of N. P. Olson, and the funeral held Tuesday afternoon with services at the Danish Lutheran church, Rev. Kjolhede officiated, and was assisted by Rev. J. Herniman Baughn of Michel- son Memorial church. The Danish choir rendered many pretty hymns.

It was his first, in several years, for the youth of Washington are tied down sadly by safe and sane legislation. Later he paid his first visit to the summer executive offices in Lynn.

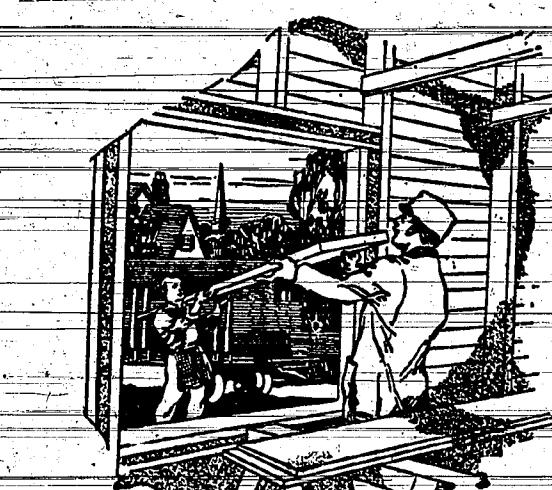

A Southern Michigan pro has been arrested for beating up one of the lady members. Mebbe she was one of those females who persists in getting out on the course in the midst of a club tournament.

Wife! Would you believe it? There's a man in Waybackton who has lived a hundred and ten years.

Hubby—Not surprising—there's not an auto in the place.

Schram's Ramblers Orchestra

Schram's Ramblers, made up of mostly Grayling boys, have been engaged to furnish music at both the Cheboygan and Osego Co. Fairs.

At present they play Wednesday and Saturday evenings at Collen's Inn, Lake Margrethe, Thursday at Luzerne and Friday evenings at Indian River.

Blame Soviet for China's Riots

Shanghai—Evidence that Soviet Russia was aiding in financing China's widespread anti-foreign agitation was believed uncovered here with the arrest of Zinovii Dossner, Soviet trade agent, and his wife, Iwima, as they were returning to Hong Kong, whence both had been deported recently.

Documents found on the couple, it was said, purposed to show the hand of Moscow back of the Chinese disturbances.

France to Fund Debt

Paris—The French cabinet has decided to fund its debt to America without further delay. Aristide Briand, foreign minister, read the cabinet a draft of a French note to America in which the French government officially recognizes its debt and states its intention to pay in full. In the conclusion of the note announces the departure of a commission for Washington with full power to fund the debt.

Chicago Delivers Ultimatum
Chicago—The Chicago city council voted to give the State of Illinois two years to bring about a legislative re-arrangement, and then if the redistricting has not been done, to take steps to secede from the state and form a separate commonwealth. The city council maintains that the state should be re-districted on the basis of population to give Chicago a larger representation in the general assembly.

French to Evacuate Ruhr
Paris—The French army of the Rhine preliminary preparations for the French evacuation of the Ruhr, which the Poincaré government recently announced would be completed by August 15. This is in fulfillment of the promise made by the preceding Herriot government that France would evacuate the Ruhr within a year after the Dawes plan became effective.

Night Air Mail Route Starts
Overnight air mail service between New York and Chicago began July 1. Two planes left simultaneously from Hadley Field, near New Brunswick, N. J., and from Chicago. The trips both ways were made in two stages, with Cleveland as the intermediary stop where relief fliers took the places of the men on the first stage of the journey.

Italian Debt Conference Ends
Washington—Further conferences on the funding of the Italian war debt have been indefinitely postponed. Mario Alberti, a member of the Italian commission, is leaving immediately for Rome to assemble additional data. He will probably not return before the middle of August.

France to Fund Debt
Paris—The French cabinet has decided to fund its debt to America without further delay. Aristide Briand, foreign minister, read the cabinet a draft of a French note to America in which the French government officially recognizes its debt and states its intention to pay in full. ## YOUNG MAN DIES OF INJURIES

A sad death occurred at Mercy Hospital Tuesday noon, when Erkless Wolcott, 18 years old, and the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wolcott passed away in an auto accident on the evening of June 27th. The young man was about to leave the hospital with the assistance of his parents, when he fell into a faint and expired a a few minutes after being taken back to his bed. Everything was done at the hospital to revive the youth but it was too late, as a clot of blood had formed near the spine had given way.

Three of his pals were injured at the time of the accident but all escaped with slight injuries. He was the driver of the auto, and the party were returning from a dancing party in Beaver Creek, when they hit a big sedan.

The death of the youth was a severe blow to his parents and many friends, and has cast a gloom over the neighborhood in which he has lived for the past 15 years. He was a favrite with all. Surviving besides his parents are one brother Devere and a sister Ellen.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon.

It kinda looks as if the guy who wrote "It ain't gonna rain no more"

was about right.

We see where a Detroit editor has been given a college degree. Wonder if Wayne county will raise up now and howl about the sacred rights of the constitution?

Where Higher Education Would Have Landed Him

Some fifteen years ago there landed in New York a friendless and almost penniless Russian immigrant who found lodgings on the East side, and at once, with racial perseverance and energy, set out to earn a living.

He was of a likeable disposition, and speedily made acquaintances who sought to aid him. In his ambition, One of them sponsored him for the vacant post of janitor, or shammon, to use the common Hebrew word, of a small synagogue on a wide street.

But when the officers of the congregation found out the applicant was entirely illiterate they reluctantly denied him employment, insomuch as a shammon must keep certain records. The greenhorn quickly rallied from his disappointment. He got a job somewhere. He prospered. Presently he became a dabbler in real estate.

Within ten years he was one of the largest independent operators in East side tenement-house property and popularly rated as a millionaire. An occasion arose when he needed a large amount of money to swing what promised to be a profitable deal. Finding himself for the moment short of cash, he went to the East side branch of one of the large banks.

It was the first time in his entire business career that he had found it necessary to borrow extensively. He explained his position to the manager who knew of his success, and asked for a loan of fifty thousand dollars.

"I'll be very glad to accommodate you," Mr. Rubin said the banker.

"Just sit down there at that desk and make out a note for the amount."

The caller smiled an embarrassed smile.

"If you please," he said, "you should be so good as to make out the note and then I should sign it."

"What's the idea?" inquired the bank-manager puzzled.

"Well, you see," he confessed, "I have to tell you something. Myself, I can't read and write. My wife she has taught me how to make my own name on paper, but otherwise with my reading and writing is nil."

In amazement the banker stared at him.

"Well, well, well!" he murmured admiringly. "And yet handicapped as you've been inside of a few years you have become a rich man! I wonder what you'd have been in this country by now if only you had been able to read and write?"

"A shammon," said Mr. Rubin modestly.

A Dependable Family Income

Formerly in one of the southern states the insure were not always sent to an institution. Sometimes they were formally awarded into the custody of someone, usually a parent or a guardian—and for the keep of such an unfortunate the state paid one hundred dollars a year. This amount, in certain sections, was regarded as a handsome addition to the family income.

One summer, a citizen from the lowlands was up in the hill country of his native state taking title to cow lands for an eastern capitalist. In a canoe, with a native to guide him, he was proceeding along a creek that penetrated into one of the wildest and most desolate recesses of the mountains.

They came to a homestead that was infinitely better looking than any they had seen for days. The house was of clapboards instead of the customary logs, and it was whitewashed. The fences were stout and newly whitewashed. The stock in the barn lot had a well-nourished look.

"Who lives here?" inquired the stranger.

The guide told him.

"Judging by the looks of the place" said the lowlander, "he must be a forehanded man."

"He certainly is," said the native. "He's forehanded, but he's had a sight of luck in this life, too. He's got seven children and all of 'em is idiots."

Working by the Time Card

Indianapolis fairly radiates interurban car lines. From Indiana's capital city, in all directions, electric railroads carry Hoosiers to and from isolated farms and towns. The conductors and motormen of these lines mainly are products of the farms and graduate to these jobs. Everybody along the line knows them by their first name; their passengers, very often are kinfolk. To win a job and a uniform on the interurban is no mean accomplishment.

The "limited" for Lafayette had cleared the suburbs of the city and was running fancy-free through the corn fields of Boone county. The conductor was busy collecting fares, but for once in his life he had little to say and that little was said with chin raised and lips but partly opened.

"Why don't ye spit, Jess?" asked one of his farm-boy acquaintances who himself had had similar experiences with sweetened tobacco.

Jess leered at his face and explained in cautious words:

"I ort to have spic at Zionsville, some summertime gettin' on Jimmed my changes and now I've got to Walt all we git to Johnson."

Ocean Temperature

Temperatures of the ocean vary from 20 degrees at the tropics to the icy temperature of the poles, says the London Daily Mail. The hottest sea water is to be found at the equator. At a depth of 700 feet, however, the ocean, even in the tropics, is extremely cold. This icy water has drifted down from the poles, spreading its chilling effect over the entire sea. In the lowest depths the temperature is very close to the freezing point, and occasionally goes beyond it.

COOL FROCKS FOR HOT DAYS, COLONIAL FURNISHINGS BACK

EVER hotter, hotter, hotter glares the sun in town and country—ever thinner, briefer, cooler grow the frocks and suits we live in. As the thermometer mounts mercilessly upward stylists consider ways and means for clothing womankind in the least burdensome of fabrics, made in the simplest styles—and for once in the history of the race, mere man regards his sisters enviously. Midsummer finds them clad in delicate and beautiful frocks and suits that weigh nothing and are all but transparent. What is more, they are, as a rule, inexpensive—they look cool and are cool.

As for frocks, morning, afternoon and evening frocks women wearing var-a genuine antique—in a patchwork quilt, a quaint sampler, hand-woven blanket or counterpane or a homemade rug, now is the time to point with pride to this early American objet d'art. Even reproductions of our early craftsmanship in home furnishings are selling at a premium and there is a demand for beautiful patchwork and especially for homemade rugs. This demand comes from the best people and happy the flapper who can stow away in her hope chest even a copy of the possessions of her great, great, great grandmother. The rich are making collections of old pieces or copies of them and furnishing at least one room ous simple models made of light-printed silks or silky cottons. Two-color combinations are greatly favored and in silk or crepe or chiffon dresses, flaring skirts, front fullness and side fullness, dispute the supremacy of the straight-line dress. As a rule sleeves are long but there is a choice between those that flare at the forearm and those that fit closely. Neck lines are varied but easy and cool. In the printed chiffon frocks for afternoon they are usually round and many of these are sleeveless. Dulny or, during prints are depended upon to give interest to morning and sports frocks like that shown in the picture.

Two Frocks for Torrid Days.

For sports suits, crepe, flannel, printed silks and English broadcloth, with varied rayon weaves and knitted fabrics, make up a practical line to choose from. But designers are not hampered in choice of materials and some of them have appropriated chiffon or sheer printed crepes for sports models; going to the last extreme in delicacy of fabrics. Striped mochita is a fine medium for a cool but substantial suit like that pictured and this is an ideal model for traveling or touring.

White collar and cuffs, of crepe de chine are removable and washable and lend to the modish suit a bit of softness that it needs. The fabric shows a batiste stripe or a colored or black ground and the design pictures is particularly becoming to slender figures.

Many women prefer to clothe their feet and heads in white and this convenient mode is approved, but white shoes piped with a color to match the color in the dress are making an impression, and those who can indulge in many hues may add a variety in light colors to their dependable white headwear.

Snake-Skin Gloves

The newest gloves from London are of snake or lizard skin. The python furnishes the largest source of supply but many gloves are made from the skins of smaller snakes with more brilliant markings.

New Fabric

A new material which suggests all kinds of possibilities is serge which comes in interesting plaided designs and smart-color combinations.

LAUGHING GESE

"Yes," said a member of the Laughing Geese family to Billie Brownie, who had gone far North to call on the Laughing Geese, "I am known as a Laughing Goose."

"But while that is one of our family names we have another name, too."

"Our other name is that of American White-Fronted Goose."

"How did you get your name of Laughing Goose?" asked Billie Brownie.

"Well," said the Laughing Goose, "our song, or talk, or noise or whatever you wish to call it sounds like harsh laughter. That is how we were given the name."

"I have a white forehead, you will notice, and that why we have the family name of White-Fronted Geese."

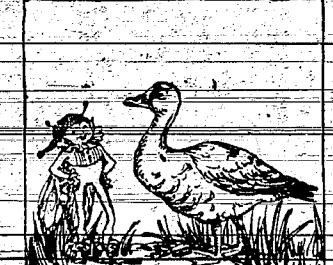

"We all have white foreheads. My head and body is grayish in color with touches of black and white. My feet are bright yellow and my beak is rose pink. I have a lovely colored beak."

"My eyes are brown."

"Well, we're called American because we belong to the American continent. But we do not come to the United States until the weather gets colder."

"We come far up here where it is icy cold even in the summer, up in these arctic regions as we love the cold."

"We make a great deal of noise, which is another reason for our name."

"It's Too Bad," said Billie Brownie, of Laughing Geese, as sometimes you will mistake our noise for laughter or for laughter for noise.

We like marshy nests, and our ladies make the loveliest or soft beds for the nests from their very own down.

"They don't believe in buying things like that. They like what they have in their own selves. Then they know it's the best."

"Many eggs are laid at a time and they are all tan-white in color. Sometimes as many as nine eggs are laid in one nest."

"The nest is always made of soft grass, too—marshy, long grass is the best."

"Sometimes in the winter we will go far, far South down into California for that is so pleasant. But when spring is on the way we go far to the north."

"We love the Mississippi river and we simply adore the Pacific ocean."

"But we never had much desire to go to see the Atlantic ocean."

"Why change ocean sides when one is quite satisfied? You know the geese aren't foolish."

"They're pretty sensible."

"Um, oh dear, Billie Brownie, we have to be so careful these days."

"We used to be hunted so much that we found we had to be very careful."

"One has to be on one's guard when people are about. And so we arranged that some of us would always be on guard to sound an alarm if danger was near."

"When some of us are out, others are watching to see that danger does not overtake us."

"Yes, we have to watch like that."

"Then others eat while we watch and we watch while others eat."

"That is the way we have to do."

"So, Billie Brownie, if it weren't for our care, and our helping each other, I don't believe we'd have the spirit to laugh."

"We keep pretty safe this way, and so we still can laugh. But it's no laughing matter to be shot at."

"No laughing matter at all."

"Even as I talk to you, and while some of the others are having a meal, there are members of the family on guard. You see I'm busy talking and so I'm not on guard. But some of the family are."

"It's too bad," said Billie Brownie.

"It's really too bad. But I'm glad you always have members of your family on guard. That's wise."

"Surely you're sensible geese. Surely no one could call you foolish geese."

"Hunk, hunk, hunk," laughed the goose, "you're truly."

Forgetful

An absent-minded professor once met an old friend in the street and stopped to talk with him. When about to separate, the professor's face wore a puzzled look.

"Tom," he said, "when I met you which way was I walking, up or down?"

"Down," replied Tom.

The professor's face cleared. "It's all right, then I had been home to lunch." Boys' Life.

Had Nice Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Schumann attended a home-coming celebration at their former home in Hudson, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The former was at one time associated in the newspaper business in that city 20 years ago. Hudson has the name of being the cleanest city in Michigan, and lives well up to its reputation. Its streets are paved and lined on each side with beautiful, large maples; homes are attractive with fine lawns and shrubbery. There is a fine new modern school building and a number of excellent churches, the Catholic church having a value of $200,000.00. The Methodist also is specially beautiful, costing somewhat less. Both structures are of cut stone. Hudson was the boyhood home of Poet Will Carlton. Noted among the home-comers were Judge Lane, dean of law at the University of Michigan; James Schermerhorn, a former managing editor of the Detroit Free Press and founder of the Detroit Times, and who enjoys the distinction of being the best after-dinner-speaker in America; Judge Grant Fellows of Michigan Supreme court, and many others. The registrations showed that 700 old-time Hudsonites had returned for the celebration, and it was a reunion that will not soon be forgotten. The citizens of Hudson opened their homes generously to the visitors and made their welcome no uncertainty. Frank Phelps, a former well known Grayling young man engaged in the drug business in that city and is getting along well, just as we expected he would. Also that city was the boyhood home of Dr. Oscar Palmer, our former well beloved citizen, now of Pasadena, Calif.

Vote for Dr. Keyport for school trustee next Monday night at the school house. He is a good representative of the people. He knows the people and home conditions better than any other person in town and has the trust and confidence of just about every family, and is everyone's friend. Parents who have children in school should be especially interested in this school meeting. Let's have a whooping big meeting, and let's have a lot of the mothers present.

The annual school meeting will be held next Monday, July 13th. At this time the financial report for last year will be read and the amount of money necessary for next year will have to be appropriated. Also there will be one trustee to elect. The term of Dr. Keyport will expire this year and no doubt he will be re-elected. He has given a lot of time in the interest of the school and is vitally interested in its success. He is a heavy tax payer and a capable and safe man to represent the people on the school board.

While R. W. McKinley and wife were enroute from Gaylord on the afternoon of the 4th, they counted no less than 95 autos that passed them in the single hour of the journey. Most all of the cars were filled with tourists seeking the sequestered pines and charming lake and river resorts of this favored region to enjoy for a season the beauties nature affords to the weary denizens of the city. This would also give you some idea of the immense amount of tourist-travel that is daily coming this way to escape the heat and turmoil of the big cities.

School taxes are high but nevertheless we hope the school board will soon see its way clear to give our boys a chance by adding a manual training department. The domestic science department is doing a lot for our girls and the former will be just as valuable for our boys. Our schools are running along smoothly and without friction and it is plain to see the benefit that comes from that condition. Let's keep them that way, and ask the board Monday night to be thinking about manual training and try and see if they can't find a way to include it in the courses of study for next year. Parents, it will be worth the cost.

HELPED THROUGH CHANGE OF LIFE

Top Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during This Critical Time—Benefited Greatly.

Baltimore, Maryland.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to help me through the Change of Life and for a broken-down system. I had been complaining a long time and dragging along had tried all sorts of medicines which did not help me much. I read in the newspapers of the Vegetable Compound and after taking a bottle I felt better. I did not stop with one bottle, but took it through the whole critical time and am now practically a well woman. I have two daughters whose health was very bad before they married and I was worried about them. I got the Vegetable Compound for them and it helped them, and after they married it also helped them in bearing their babies. This is a great and good medicine for all complaints of women, and I recommend it to all!"—Mrs. L. GINGERICH, 1875 N. Gilmore St., Baltimore, Maryland.

The Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for women of middle age. Let it relieve you of nervousness, that feeling of strain and those annoying hot flashes so common at this time.

WISE WHISPERINGS

Any one may develop, but he remains being developed by outsiders.

Optimism always directs in writing a letter of recommendation.

Everybody suffers; and some keep still about it.

A girl isn't necessarily timid because she jumps at a proposal.

Why should anyone who does not believe in religion worry about those who do?

Folly treads close upon the heels of great and unexpected wealth.

Rivalry.

Faint heart often wins; take a lady with a little actual assistance on her part.

Feel All Out of Sorts?

Is backache spoiling your summer? Does it get up lame and stiff—tired all day? Are you so nervous and worn out you cannot rest or relax? Look, then, to your kidneys! "Stimulating kidneys"! When this happens you are apt to suffer from pains, soreness, stiffness, dizziness and anxiety, kidney irregularities. Help kidneys with a stimulant diuretic. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are used the world over. Ask your neighbor.

A Michigan Case

Edward Hardy, Farmer, R.R. F.D. No. 4, Hart, Mich., has had a dull, drizzling ache across his kidneys and a sharp pain took me through my back. My back ached and was sore and lame. My kidneys were weak and I had to get up several times a night to pass water. Doan's Pills rid me of the trouble.

Fliers Set Record

Aviators in the Royal Canadian Air Force set a new record for safe flying last year by making up 3,340 hours of actual flying time without a fatal accident in carrying air mail, patrolling forests and fisheries, and performing other government services, said a report from the Department of the Interior. More than 3,000 acres of forest in Alberta were covered twice a day by air patrols during the season of fire hazard, and in Manitoba 40,000 acres were under observation. The forces photographed 30,000 square miles of terrain for the topographical survey.

So It Goes

"What we need in this life is perfect understanding. Yeah, we don't always get it over the radio."

A smokeless switching locomotive burning fuel oil, which generates power for driving motors, has been introduced.

Love of money may be the root of all evil, but it is also the root of most misery.

Any scheme that works requires a good deal of perspiration.

FOREST FIRES ARE BIG SUMMER MENACE

Do you know that hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of valuable land is spoiled due to smoldering fires left burning after campers break camp and move to a new site? Forest fires are one of the greatest menaces in summer, and the majority are from carelessness. Photograph shows members of the forest commission, en route to a reported fire.

PROPER AMOUNT OF AIR IN TIRE

Amount Is Determined by Experts Whose Judgment Should Rule.

In the course of the development the experiments have proven that among the most important factors in the proper treatment of tires is the adjustment of the ratio between the air pressure of the tires and the load to be carried. The engineers have made long and comprehensive studies of the proper amount of air to be used with certain loads. The life of the tires is actually lengthened and the service given is improved if these observations of the engineers are regarded.

Overloading Fault.

Overloading is a common fault, and the disregard for careful adjustment of air pressure in the tires causes all sorts of tire troubles which are not attributable to the construction of the tire but to their use. The engineers and chemists are at work constantly improving the materials from which tires are made and the machinery for their production, but all of the principles back of the construction of the tires are based on maintaining an air pressure commensurate with the load to be carried and the design of the tire.

If the loads are increased, the air pressure must be made to conform, otherwise there is an insufficient amount of air in the tires for the load carried and this produces undistribution which causes an unnatural wear on the tires. If the load is too light for the air pressure carried there is not the resiliency or buoyancy to the tires that there should be. This is particularly true of balloon-tires. In which the variation of the air pressure is a matter to be carefully attended.

Good Treatment.

Tires, like the motor of the automobile, respond to good treatment, and the good motorist is the one who will heed the best advice as to the care of the engine. He will use his automobile for years and the engine will actually improve in his hands, while to the hands of the poor motorist the engine will develop a multitude of troubles. So it is with tires. Proper care and use will give maximum mileage. Considering that the tires carry the load of the car and the contents, as well as protecting the whole mechanism of the car against the road-blows, there are no more important elements in the operation of the car than proper tire adjustment, inflation and load.

Watch Your Water Pump to Prevent Motor Heat

Or the 16 reasons for motor heating, perhaps one of the most obscure and least thought of is the small pin that holds the paddle wheel on the water pump to the shaft. This is a frequent reason for engine overheating, and because of its very obscurity, is one of the reasons for this series of articles.

As everyone knows, the water pump is attached to the water pump shaft. Within this pump is a paddle wheel that assists in circulating the water from the radiator entirely through the water pressure system. A small steel pin holds this paddle wheel fast to the pump, and many times, after some months of usage this pin becomes worn or rusted, and shears off as smoothly as if cut by a knife. The pump at once becomes inoperative, the water does not circulate and the terrific heat of the engine soon boils away the water that remains in the radiator. Here again the heat indicator on your car immediately tells the story, as the vapor temperature of the boiling water in the radiator will warn the motorist, through this instrument, that he must investigate at once, or suffer the penalty: a large garage bill.

Things One Should Know About Replacing Tubes

Common mistake in replacing a punctured or blown-out tube is responsible for a multitude of troubles. The most common mistake is pinching the tube.

The tube is inserted in an uneven or twisted manner. This causes it to overlap or wrinkle with the result that in a short time it will cut through where it has been overlapped and produce a leak. The same trouble is also caused sometimes by putting a new tube into the tire just as it is taken from the box.

When the tube is applied after mounting, there is such an influx of air that it will often buckle up the tubes, thereby forcing a tiny section beneath the head spreader. Especially will this occur if the valve stem is not pulled out to its proper position.

The operator should proceed slowly when applying the tube. Before putting it into the casing it should be given a couple of "shots" of air, then it should be applied carefully, the inside—the side on which the stem occurs—always being kept inside.

When it is in the casing it should be "tailed" carefully and the fingers forced all around the tire to make sure that the tale has been evenly distributed, and then, before the loose bead is applied the tire should be given a little more air—enough to round it out nicely and prevent pinching.

AUTOMOBILE FACTS

Carry spare headlight bulbs with you.

To enjoy motoring, get off the main traveled roads. Still, on side roads, garages are not so numerous.

The complete skip of the ignition is a warning that the breaker points need attention. When one spark plug has gone bad, regular will be but partial and quite regular.

IN BUYING AN AUTOMOBILE THE AVERAGE EUROPEAN FIGURES COST OF OPERATION FIRST AND PRICE OF CAR AFTERWARD.

The front drive automobile must be a novelty for the fellow whose wife always has driven from the back seat.

A motorist suggests that all the small license numbers be reserved for drivers who need watching. He thinks that the victim of an accident has a better chance of catching "28" than of remembering "687,042."

Get Even With Scots for Game of Golf

Scotland crammed golf down our throats. Now we're getting back at them, we're crowding our breakfast down them. We've made them take everything but pie for the mistrial repast.

The change, which began working about ten years ago, is now complete. Ham and eggs is now the national breakfast of Scotland, replacing porridge (or porridge) and herring hash. Then, American golf also gave the Scots huked beans for luncheon at the golf club.

One Play on Field Nets

Frank Chance, $140,000

Frank Chance, the "Peerless Leader," who died in Los Angeles, Calif., gained part ownership of the team he so frequently led to victory through a single play, he once related. The one play netted him $140,000, since his stock in the club soared to that value.

It was in 1906, as Chance told it, and the Chicago Nationals were in second place fighting for the pennant and with only a few more games to play.

In a hot game at Cincinnati Chance hit safely and stole second with one out. Joe Tinker, shortstop and then heavy batter, was at bat. Everyone expected Tinker to swing heavily. But Chance signaled for a bunt. Tinker laid down a perfect bunt and Chance streaked for third. The "Peerless Leader" did not stop, but headed for home, sliding in safely.

Next day Charles P. Taft, the new owner of the Cubs sent for his manager.

Chance quoted him as having said, "That was the greatest play I ever saw or ever expect to see. I am going to show you that I appreciate your work and efforts. I am going to let you buy a tenth interest in the club for $10,000."

Chance sold out for $140,000 after he left the club in 1912.

Picks Team of All-Time

Big League Ball Stars

Since playing all-American football teams is not the rage, just to differentiate Hughey Jennings of the New York Giants was asked to pick an all-American baseball team.

Hughey, who has been connected with major-league ball for better than thirty years, is certainly qualified to make the selection.

Always game willing to take a chance knowing his choice will meet with disfavor in many quarters, Jennings spoke truly:

"The greatest field I have ever seen in action would be made up of Sister at first, LaJoie at second, Wagner at short and Frisch at third."

"My selection of Frisch, vet Jimmy Collins will, no doubt, occasion some surprise. Despite the fact that Frisch is now playing second, I regard third as his natural position and consider him more valuable all-around player than Jimmy Collins.

"The outfield would be made up of Cobb, Speaker and Keeler. I have selected Keeler in preference to Ruth because I regard him as a greater team player.

"My battery would be Mathewson and Bresnan. There never was a better one. Incidentally, I would be content to manage the team in any league.

Lucey Looks Good

Joseph W. Lucey, former star pitcher for the Jersey City later national league team, is pitching fine ball with the Boston Red Sox.

Good Scout and Useful Citizen

By JOHN DICKINSON SHERMAN

The Nature-Lover has always been a "good scout." His love of nature is the outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace. Nowadays the nature-lover is not only a good scout but a useful citizen. He is a useful citizen nowadays because there are many of him, because he is organized, and because he is aggressive in behalf of certain movements that are vital importance to the nation.

"He" in this case includes "she," for the women nature-lovers are quite as active as the men and have made themselves a power in the land.

And the sportsman—he is the gentle man out of doors. It's hard to define the gentleman and therefore the sportsman. There are, however, certain things which mark the sportsman. He always obeys the game laws. He never takes more game or fish than he can use. He gives the game a fair chance—he does not shoot birds unless on the wing; he uses light tackle in angling; he does not chase down deer with an automobile. He frowns on magazine guns. He objects to gun hooks and is considering the adoption of the barbless hook. The market hunter and the game-hog are a stench in his nostrils—through organization, education and legislation he is combating the destructive ideas of taking without returning, of destroying without providing for the future.

Suggestive indeed are the pictures used herewith. No. 1 shows a girl on horseback looking down from a height in Mount Hunter National park on one of the glaciers that flow down on all sides from the top of the great mountain, one of the most impressive in all the world. There are thrills in mountain climbing. And nature has curative ways with work-worn humans. Outdoor recreation in scenes of natural beauty is the best antidote for the manifold ills of our Twentieth century civilization, which astro-atmospheric storms are creating.

No. 2 pictures Samson Davley and his 10½-inch brook trout, caught near Syracuse, N. Y. The nature-lovers you see, have kept this stream stocked, and keep half a billion good American dollars at home and in circulation.

No. 3 shows us Mount Rockwell and Two Medicine lake in Glacier National park. There are scores of such scenes in our national parks.

No. 4 pictures Samson Davley and his 10½-inch brook trout, caught near Syracuse, N. Y. The nature-lovers you see, have kept this stream stocked, and keep half a billion good American dollars at home and in circulation.

The chance for a boy to fish is a priceless heritage. This boy does not live, breathe and have his being in terms of the movies. He is learning something of life as it is.

No. 5 gives us a glimpse of the Human section of the Palisades International Conference on Outdoor Recreation at Washington. The federal government's position is now one of support and co-operation. Various commissions and committees are making a nation-wide survey of outdoor recreation resources of all kinds, with a view to closer co-operation.

One of the immediate results of the organization of the Recreation Conference is an investigation by an all-inclusive commission this summer of seven areas in the Blue Ridge, Great Smoky, and Minimath Cliffs regions, with the view of establishing one or more national parks in the Appalachian mountains. Congress will presumably decide at its next session whether it will appropriate funds for the purchase of areas selected by the commission.

Congress changed this disposition overnight by opening up the national parks to commercial invasion under the water-power act. Thereupon the nature-lovers sent out a nation-wide "S. O. S." They first forced congress to reverse itself and exempt the national parks from the operation of the act. Next they proceeded to organize an army of defense. Finally they entered upon a constructive campaign which has made outdoor recreation in its various phases one of the liveliest nonpolitical issues of the day. This "Nature-Lovers' Army" now numbers about 5,000,000 men and women, members of more than 125 organizations.

Here are some of the more important things that have come about since the nature-lover hit the trail with his war paint on:

The following national parks have been established: Hawaii—including three famous volcanoes; Lassen Volcanic in California; Mount McKinley in Alaska; Grand Canyon in Arizona; Lufayette on the Island of Mount Desert, Maine; Zion in Utah (including Bryce canyon).

National monuments to the number of fourteen have also been established by Presidential proclamation.

Congress has established the national park service, in control of the national parks. Previously the management of the national parks was vested in several clerks in various bureaus of the Interior department; the national parks were considered a liability instead of a great national asset.

The "See America First" movement has been developed and carried to increasing success. This summer more than two million Americans will visit the national parks and monuments.

You see, have kept this stream stocked, and keep half a billion good American dollars at home and in circulation.

The chance for a boy to fish is a price-

THE AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

ARONOWITZ ACTIVE IN LEGION RANKS

A record of service from a mere private in the ranks to department commander of New York's American Legion is the record established by Samuel E. Aronowitz, whose term saw the accomplishment of New York's share of the $5,000,000 endowment, and a wholesome membership increase.

Aronowitz was born in the shadow of the capitol at Albany, New York, in 1890, being now some thirty-five years of age. Through the Albany high school, graduated with an A. B. degree from Dartmouth, he completed his education at the Albany Law school and was admitted to practice in 1914.

He continued to work in Albany until America entered the war, and then served in Company B, Three Hundred and Ninth Machine Gun Battalion, Seventy-eighth Division, as sergeant Overseas more than a year, he saw service in the St. Mihiel offensive, the Meuse-Argonne offensive, and the Meuse-Argonne offensive.

I know that though extreme poverty is a blight and a curse, yet the greatest satisfactions are not those which can be bought with money. This sounds like sour grapes platitude, I say, but it is not. It is a deep truth which I have learned by observing both the well-to-do and the poor at close range. I have learned, too, how comparatively valueless are possessions as contributors to human happiness. —Edith Summers Robey in Hearst's International-Cosmopolitan.

Ingenious Cat

An inquisitive-looking black cat, which is the pet of a Burlington (Vt.) store, was seen to leap up on the counter and get into the egg basket, says the Boston Globe. The cat proceeded to push one of the eggs out with its paws and when it broke on the floor jumped down and ate the egg, leaving the shell. Then it ate the storekeeper's jar of chicken feet in a basket, and a piece of chicken was in a basket, and eating a little solid food, the cat pushed the other heavy jar off the counter. It went after the chicken and ate everything but the glass.

Ancient Egg

Workmen excavating the new basement under the courthouse at Centreville, Md., unearthed a hen's egg which may be older than the building itself, which was built nearly 200 years ago. The egg was found at a point beneath the building where it would have been impossible for a hen to go. It is assumed that the egg was laid while the building was being constructed. The shell is in perfect condition, but the contents have long ago died up.

Large Beaver Fur Sale

The largest beaver fur sale by the provincial government game guardian's department for some years past was put through a few years ago, when 210 pelts were sold to Alberta dealers. The average price realized was $12.75, and the pelt in the lot was $100 for three particularly fine skins.

Three Aged Clocks

Three clocks aggregating 800 years of age are on exhibition at Pittsburgh. The oldest clock is the property of Fred Jones. It is a Columbus clock, and has but one hand, and the face is marked for the hour, quarter hour and half hour. The year 1492 is the date on the box of the timepiece, which is made entirely of wood. Another of the three clocks is owned by Mr. Beaumont, and was made by Bartholomew in 1812 at Bristol, Conn. It is also of wood and keeps excellent time. The third belongs to Charles S. Taylor. The clock is an English one, made of brass composition, and is about 200 years old.

It is also a dependable timekeeper. Boston Globe.

How Nation's Milk Is Used

TWENTY cents out of every food dollar is spent for dairy products. Milk or milk products are used in almost every dish included in the daily meal, according to the Blue Valley Creamery Institute.

Latest statistics prepared by the bureau of dairying of the Department of Agriculture show that 45.5 per cent of the American milk production, or almost one hundred billion pounds, is used directly in the form of milk. It is estimated that every man, woman and child consumes on an average of 60 gallons of milk each year. This is an increase of eight gallons over the 1917 per capita consumption figure.

The nation is eating more butter as well as drinking more milk. Per capita consumption of butter averages around 16 pounds, while in 1918 the average was but 14.6 pounds. More than one-fourth of the yearly milk supply is made into butter, 23.8 per cent of this is turned out as a commercial product.

Americans are not big cheese eaters. The average consumption is less than 8.7 pounds per capita. Only 3.7 per cent of the annual milk production is made in cheese. Condensed milk consumption has more than doubled since 1920 when the average consumption was six pounds per capita. Today the average consumption is 12.69 per capita.

Condensed milk plants last year absorbed 3.5 per cent of the milk produced. Ice cream takes about the same amount. Calves drink around 4.2 per cent. Less than 2 per cent of the year's milk supply is used for such miscellaneous products as powdered milk and cream, malted and canned milk and milk chocolate. It is estimated that around 3 per cent is wasted or lost.

SECRETARY LIKES THE RODEO

In the West he's "Bill." But in official Washington he's William Marion Jardine, secretary of agriculture, a member of President Coolidge's official "family." Secretary Jardine has been invited to attend the Chicago Roundup and World's Championship Rodeo, to be held for nine days, beginning August 15. Those who know him say that he will be on hand for this greatest of all cowboy contests, as Secretary Jardine has not lost the spirit of the West where, years ago, he rode the range and punched cattle with the best of them.

Back in Idaho they like to tell how the secretary of agriculture busted bronchos and threw a rope. They're proud of their "Bill" and they're willing to wager that he could ride into the arena at the Chicago Rodeo and make some of the expert cowhands hustle for honors. The competitions will be held under the direction of Tex Austin, for the world's championship titles, belts and trophies and $30,000, the largest cash purse held anywhere.

THE OLD WEST IN ACTION

All highways and byways this year lead enticingly to the Chicago Roundup and World's Championship Rodeo, which is to be held for nine days, beginning August 15. By car, train, boat or automobile, with parties of friends made up to share the trip, thousands of tourists are expected to be transplanted into the atmosphere of the real West.

Chicago's new $6,000,000 stadium on Lake Michigan is to become the capital of American sport through the efforts of the domestic and foreign commerce committee of the Association of Commerce.

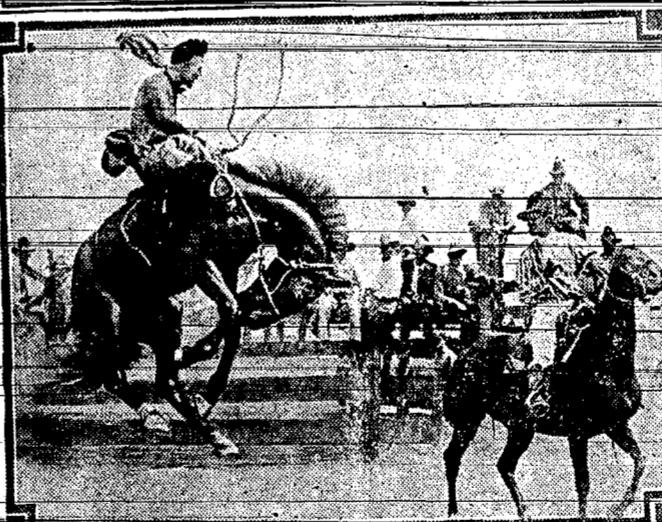

The story of the roundup and the rodeo is the story of romance of the real West. Into the nine days of the Chicago event will be packed more daring feats and dynamic action than is the privilege of many to witness in a lifetime. Tex Austin, producer of the most successful cowboy contests, will organize and manage the Chicago spectacle. Cowboys, cowgirls and bulldoggers, champions all, bronchos and long-horn steers which have earned mastery, will fight out the battle royal for supremacy.

From the "brush" of the Southwest to the ranges of Canada, the challenge has passed among the buckaroos who have fought out old rivalries at the famous cowboy events in Cheyenne and Pendleton. Not only seeking the glory of victory, they also will compete for more than $500,000 in cash prizes put up by the Chicago association. This is the largest amount given anywhere this year for cowboy contests. "Outlaw" horses, called the worst on the ranges, already are under contract with Tex Austin. They can't be ridden, is the promise of their owners. Carloads of steers, conditioned through the summer into their greatest strength, will defy the wits of the "bulldoggers."

The stadium itself is the world's wonder work of architecture. Its massive colonnades look down upon a huge arena and tiers of seats for 75,000 persons. It is set in the ring of boulevards and parks and on the lake front which have won for Chicago the title of "vacation city."

The roundup and rodeo will solve your vacation problems, so tell Mother and Sister and the Kid Brother to quit fretting over the summer's plans and get ready for the thrills of their lives.
